

Privacy Policy

Introduction

- This policy details what data we collect and what we do with it.

Information We Collect

- We collect the information that you voluntarily give us in the contact form.
- This entails your first name, last name, email address, and your contact message.

How We Use This Information

- We only use collected information to respond to any user queries.

How Information Is Stored

- All information that is collected is stored in a secure database.

User Rights

- All users have the right to request to see their data, change their data and delete their data.

Data Retention

- Data is stored until the user is contacted after which it is deleted.
- Users can also request to delete their data at any time.